MASTERS OF ARTS (THEOLOGY)

RICH TRADITIONS, ENRICHING LEARNING

Pursue a graduate research degree, offered by Western University, within the intimate and vibrant learning environment created by Huron University's strategically-small campus. The MA in Theology allows you to specialize in the theological field of your choice, while working closely with professors who will nurture your unique interests and help you pursue research that sparks your passion and curiosity.

As the founding institution of Western University and one of Canada's oldest theological schools, Huron has a rich history of study and research in Theology. The MA in Theology draws together academic resources from Huron, Western, and affiliated institutions that support an interdisciplinary approach to theological learning.

RIGOROUS ACADEMICS – WITH HEART

This research-intensive MA prepares students for the pursuit of a doctorate or serves as a superior terminal degree in theology, while also strongly emphasizing the moral and ethical components of our university's historic vision.

Benefit from one-on-one mentorship with faculty members who are leading experts within their academic disciplines. Not only do the department's eight professors hail from some of the world's most prestigious universities, but they also actively foster Huron's vision of developing active and engaged citizens with the knowledge, skills and compassion to shape a more just and empathetic world.

At Huron, support extends beyond the classroom, so we prioritize access to the financial resources students need to make the most out of their exceptional learning opportunities.

CHRIS MEDLAND, MA

CLASS OF 2015

"Huron provided all the financial support possible to make a married, low-income student, like myself, able to fully take part in academic life. The tremendous teaching and mentorship I received set me up to attain a full scholarship to the University of Edinburgh for my PhD. Without Huron, this never would have happened." ■

Apply for Huron's MA Program today and begin a transformative learning journey that will position you for significant personal, professional and academic success.

“Students studying at Huron will encounter several different advantages. The first is a top-notch faculty in which the core group are excellent teachers, active researchers, and engaged in the academy and religious communities in various ways. This is important because it means the faculty is current in their knowledge and connected to a web of assets into which students are welcomed.

A second is the combination of small community and large university - with the benefits of each. At Huron, students are taught and mentored by professors, who really have the chance to get to know them due to our low student-to-faculty ratio, while also having Western’s extensive resources at their disposal.” 📖

MICHAEL BODKIN, MA

THEOLOGY GRADUATE

PhD Candidate at the Centre for the Study of Theory and Criticism at Western University

“I found my spark and pursued it at Huron, and the experience was phenomenal. I met an amazing group of people I could engage in meaningful discussions and explore thought leadership with. Together, we explored subjects I am extremely invested in – not only academically, but as a human being who wants to support a more ethical world.” 📖
