Course Description:

This course examines the role of the management consultant and how the consulting industry serves to enhance the effectiveness of the organizations it serves. From an internal perspective, the course examines what it means to act as an external advisor, what skills are necessary to develop a successful consulting business model, and how to professionally engage clients to assist them in successfully reaching their goals through design and implementation of novel approaches and techniques that generate competitive advantage.

Emulating the skills necessary to be a successful consultant, this course will aide in development of problem-identification and solving abilities, communication and influencing skills, and introduce a project-based management mindset.

Learning Outcomes:

- Applied cross-functional skills to make real-world-type decisions as they set and plan for the execution of engagements for several well-known organizations highlighted in the cases
- Learned a number of new analytical techniques utilized by professionals in the practice of strategy consulting and business advisory services
- Analyzed and evaluated various aspects of several case organizations, their competition, their business issues, their context, and related tactical options
- Developed client issue responses, decide among alternatives, and created implementation plans to ensure project success, client satisfaction, and firm profitability
- Created innovative “visions for the future” of each industry space in which case organizations play, including how the marketplace might evolve, what products/services will be like, what the consultant can do to assist to prepare for that future, and what can they do to “shape their destiny”, drive thoughtware development, and gain market eminence
- Presented the results of their analyses and decision-making to their peers in a executive-style client summary

- Understand the use of these techniques in real-life settings, as demonstrated by consulting guest speaker(s)
- Enhanced communication skills by clearly and concisely sharing of complex information with their peers
